

Obsurvus Health & Safety Policy

Our commitment to keeping you, all our contacts, our staff and the public safe, at all times.

Obsurvus demonstrate, maintain and improve a determined attitude to health and safety throughout our organisation. Our staff, clients and the public can be assured their own safety is considered and evaluated at all times.

We will comply with all health and safety legislation in accordance with our activities. We will enforce and encourage best practice at all levels. This policy will demonstrate the importance that Obsurvus considers all its activities impacts on the environment and people we work with.

Obsurvus aim to communicate and consult on health and safety matters at all times, ensuring best practice, safe environments and confidence to complete all our activities safely. Where necessary or appropriate, Obsurvus will implement any additional controls.

Senior management and staff will ensure that adequate resources are available at all times, health and safety is assessed and monitored continuously.

Obsurvus staff will identify and highlight any health and safety issues as a matter of priority. We require all contractors/clients to identify and communicate any health and safety issues in the same manner. Obsurvus will always aim to deliver a safe workplace for all by reporting and investigating any incidents, accidents or near misses with the view of improving our health and safety standards.

Obsurvus' people have the competence to implement and complete work with minimum exposure to hazards and so reduce health and safety issues.

We aim to adequately educate and instruct all staff on health and safety matters which could impact themselves, the public or client. Safe working practices take priority in working environments.

Our activities will be in full compliance with legislation and our people/contacts will be empowered to report any potential issues, incidents, hazards or accidents to minimise health and safety risks.

Our policy will be delivered by a determined culture or prioritising health and safety at all times. Open discussions and plans implemented continuously to ensure safety of all at work. All staff and management will be responsible for each other and themselves at all times.
